Document History

This policy is to be ratified by the College Council in 2020
The life cycle of this policy is three years

Rationale

To ensure a positive school experience for all members of the school community through the provision of sound procedural fairness practice in accordance with the principles of natural justice.

The principle of natural justice requires that a person be given the opportunity to respond to allegations, which may negatively impact that person. ASV's commitment to natural justice should be implemented by following procedural fairness in situations where decisions may be taken, which could have a detrimental effect on the rights, interests or legitimate expectations of a person. Procedural fairness is integral to the management of processes affecting people under ASV policies, procedures and guidelines.

Definition

The rules or principles of natural justice, also known as procedural fairness, have been developed to ensure that decision-making is fair and reasonable. Put simply, natural justice involves decision-makers informing people of the case against them or their interests, giving them a right to be heard (the 'hearing' rule), not having a personal interest in the outcome (the rule against 'bias'), and acting only on the basis of logically probative evidence (the 'no evidence' rule).

Aims

Seventh-day Adventist Schools (Victoria) Limited is committed to supporting its schools in providing a safe and inclusive school environment where all members can expect to receive procedural fairness in their dealings with school management. This includes their right to:

- Know which specific allegations have been made
- Know the process by which the matter will be considered

- Respond to the allegations
- Know the procedures for seeking a review of a decision made in response to allegations
- Impartiality in an investigation and decision-making
- A bias-free decision-making process

Further

In serious matters under investigation the person carrying out the investigation will not be the same as the person making the decision.
